

ABSTRACT

By blending glycyrrhizin with an ester mixture comprising a C₆₋₁₈ fatty acid glycerol ester with a C₆₋₁₈ fatty acid macrogol ester, glycyrrhizin can be efficiently absorbed via mucosae, in particular, digestive mucosae to achieve a therapeutically effective plasma glycyrrhizin concentration.